

Abstract of the Disclosure:

A microelectronic structure has an adhesion layer which is disposed between a base substrate and a barrier layer. The adhesion layer improves the adhesion of the barrier layer on 5 the base substrate, in particular to insulation layers provided there. Microelectronic structures of this type are preferably used in semiconductor memories. A method of fabricating such a microelectronic structure is also provided.

MB/tk